This will be a plaza for Miao's party, known as "Miao New Year". During Miao New Year, the Miao people celebrate with traditional dances, singing, traditional clothing, and lavish feasts.

Another transition phase, the camera will zoom out by entering a broader area.

The Miao ethnic group typically live in mountains area or in areas like that. This area represents a woodland with tall trees. The tall tree will naturally hide the view of the road, preventing visitors outside of the mountain from seeing the way.

This is a river that will pass through the entire Miao village. The player will see this river again later in the game.

This is a typical curly road that going to the Miao village. This happened because the mountainous areas often feature steep and rugged terrain. To overcome these challenges, road designs may incorporate multiple curves and turns. There are also some other geological conditions too.

At the same time, the available space in the mountain are restricted, therefore this kind of curly road are normally tiny and small

This path is intended to convey the odd design of the road. Also, this is a "on-rails" path that will lead the player to the village. Also, as the player walks along this path, some items will appear and interact with him.
